

GBCHealth

Mobilizing Business for a Healthier World

Michael Schreiber

Managing Director, Membership and Advisory Services

Michael Schreiber is GBCHealth's Managing Director. He focuses on developing new contributions and increased innovation in corporate engagement in global health. His charge includes attracting additional companies to the fight, and defining cross-sector collaboration and partnership opportunities. Michael also leads outreach to governments, multi-lateral organizations, foundations and individuals who want to advance GBCHealth's role as a hub of collaboration and collective action.

Previously, Michael was founder and president of TRUiST, a pioneering social enterprise which built a proprietary technology platform that processed over $1 Billion annually in Fortune 500 employee volunteer and donations. Prior to creating TRUiST, Michael served as Executive Vice President & CIO at United Way World Wide.

Michael's background also includes extensive, practical, front-line experience on social and economic development in emerging markets-with corporations, civil society and governments. In senior positions at Deloitte Consulting, he worked with both government agencies and corporations in the United States, Namibia, South Africa and other African nations. Earlier in his career, he served at the U.S. Embassy in The Gambia, overseeing operational functions and drafting the annual Human Rights Report.

Michael has a degree in Economics from Stanford University and an MBA from Duke University's Fuqua School of Business.
